

Engineered Products & High Tech Competence Center

> CONSULTING SERVICES

We develop value strategies based on in-depth Engineered Products & High Tech market know-how, by taking a strategic view, understanding the value drivers and leveraging our functional expertise and industry best practice.

Close work between our clients and our international network of highly motivated consultants helps ensure fast implementation.

Aerospace & Defence

The approaches developed for aerospace, defence and security companies cover strategic and operational issues to help identify and exploit new sources of growth and conduct major change programs.

Long life cycle products

Our clients range from renewable energy companies to production and other high tech system manufacturers. Together, we help them implement individual solutions that work.

B2B - Electronics

Covering electrical engineering and manufacturing as well as automation technology and microelectronics we focus on some of the most competitive industries, contributing the approaches to meet current and future challenges.

Basic Materials

We advise steel & non-steel and glass & ceramic manufacturers as well as construction material firms to jointly develop diversification and market entry strategies and to find potential partners for strategic alliances.
